As always I like to add that this is a simple outline. You may need or choose to do additional research on the subject and find additional materials to use, and add more scriptures. There is so much information on each topic that it is impossible to add everything. But I hope this helps to make your homeschool or family worship easier for you and helps shorten your research time, because I know how difficult it can be to find time to research and put things together for homeschool and family worship.
